

DRUGGISTS HIGHLY RECOMMEND DR. KILMER'S SWAMP-ROOT

Satisfied With Results

I have been selling Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for six and one-half years and my customers are always satisfied with the results obtained from the use of the medicine and speak favorably regarding it. I have used it for "pain in the back" and a bottle or two put me in good shape and made me feel fine again. I believe Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root will cure any case for which it is recommended if they are not of too long standing.

Very truly yours,

Customers Speak Favorably

We have been handling Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for fourteen years and during all that time we never had a dissatisfied user of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root; all of our customers speak very favorably regarding it. We know of cases of Gout, Rheumatism, Catarrh of the Bladder and Rheumatism where it produced the most beneficial results. We believe it is a good medicine for the diseases for which it is intended.

Very truly yours,

He Knew.

Little Edward was listening carefully to the conversation of his elders, puzzled over the many long words he did not understand, when he heard his grandfather call a certain person an optimist. Edward brightened.

"Oh," cried he, "I know what that is!"

"Well, Edward," said his grandfather, "what, then, is an optimist?"

"Why," said Edward, "the man who fits you with spectacles!"

You will look ten years younger if you darken your ugly, grizzly, gray hairs by using "La Creole" Hair Dressing.—Adv.

Postponed.

Little Dorothy's mother had spoken to her several times about teasing the cat, whose name was Teddy.

Finally she said, "Dorothy, I want you to leave that poor cat alone, and I am not going to speak about it again tonight."

"Dorothy looked around at the cat and said, threateningly, 'All right, Mr. Teddy-cat, but you'll catch it tomorrow.'—Woman's Home Companion.

Eccentricity.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "did you make one of those freakish election bets?"

"No, I simply bet $50 and lost it."

"That was worse than freakish, Charles. That was foolish."

BIRSKY and ZAPP

By
MONTAGUE GLASS

"I SEE where the president of the Airy-o Club of America has got a new plan to encourage young fellers to learn how to fly," said Louis Birsky the real estate man as he laid down the morning paper in Wasserbauer's Restaurant.

"What was the old plan?" Birsky asked.
"Well," Birsky replied, "I suppose he took the young feller to one side and said: 'Listen, be a sport. You got to die some time, and a long, expensive sickness ain't no pleasant neither. Get it over quick. Learn to fly.'"

"And naturally the young feller wasn't encouraged," Birsky suggested.

"Naturally," Birsky said. "So now the president of the Airy-o Club of America has got it wrong. The thing to do is not to encourage young fellers to learn it flying in an airy-olplane but to DIS-courage 'em."

"Aber supposing the feller don't arrive first?" Zapp inquired.

"Then that's his funeral," Birsky said.

"Well then where does the encouragement come in?" Zapp commented.

"Furthermore, Birsky, this here president of the Airy-o Club of America has got it wrong. The thing to do is not to encourage young fellers to learn it flying in an airy-olplane but to DIS-courage 'em."

"Well, what he said in the first place didn't sound so encouraging to me," Birsky said.

"What he said was all right," Zapp admitted, "but he didn't lay no pipes for it. For instance, if I would be the president of the Airy-o Club of America and I wanted a young feller he should be an airy-onaut, y'understand, I would find out where the young feller is working and get him fired. I would then fix things so that the girl he is going to marry wouldn't get nothing to do with him no more. H'afterwards I would use all this as evidence why his father should throw him out of the house, and when I got the young feller absolutely in despair, y'understand, I would lay for him at the drug store and just when he is going to buy the poison he is figuring on taking, I would say to him: 'Listen, since the war has stopped Germany shipping drugs to America, you couldn't rely on poisons no more. Save your money and try something certain. Learn to fly.'"

"Aber not considering the funny side of this thing, Zapp, why is it we ain't got more as one airy-olplane flyer to Europe's twenty?" Birsky asked.

"It's a question from etiquette," Zapp replied. "Over in Europe if a young feller has got a father with a rating anywhere about D to F credit fair, for such a young feller to work for a living is considered like eating with his knife or wearing tan shoes with a full dress suit. So what is a feller like that to do? Cards he soon gets tired of, because you've got to use your head to play cards, and in employment to thousands of operators. y'understand, they got over in Europe a son of a millionaire who is learning to fly in an airy-olplane and has working for him steady two mechanics, a surgeon and a trained nurse.

"Well, you couldn't blame such a young feller in especially if he is going out a good deal into society," Birsky said. "The fact that a feller is learning to fly in an airy-olplane and so to speak could never tell which moment is going to be his next, Zapp, makes him in a way very interesting to meet, especially for ladies, Zapp, which they could say h'afterwards: 'Only yesterday he was talking to me the same like you are now.' Also an airy-olplane flyer has got a trople of conversation more attractive to ladies, Zapp, which I don't care how good looking a young American millionaire just what it was about the airy-olplane that killed the airy-onaut. One member of the club in particular feels quite sore that we should be willing to learn by Europe's mistakes and not by our own, so he is offering a trophy for an annual airy-olplane competition for flying across the continent."

"What for, a trophy?" Birsky asked.
"He didn't say," Zapp replied, "but the chances is it would be a wider in sterling silver holding in her right hand a cancelled insurance policy and underneath the motto: 'Kindly omit flowers.'"

"And he expects that American airy-onauts will risk their lives flying to the Pacific coast for such a prize?" Birsky said. "I suppose the second prize is a safety razor with twelve blades and styptic pencil in leatherine case complete, and the third prize a could be, y'understand, if he would sit down and tell a lady how he was up till three in the morning figuring the costs on a big shipment of enamel ware wash tubs, and how by re-positioning the overhead, he cut the independent manufacturers' price ten per cent, Zapp, is it any wonder that the daughters of our best families prefers a marriage match with a foreign noble feller? Am I right or wrong?"

"Yes and no," Zapp said, "because while your idea is a good talking point for the president of the Airy-o Club, Birsky, supposing he does promise a feller that if he becomes an airy-onaut, he stands a chance to leave a rich widow provided the wedding takes place before the accident, y'understand, where is the inducement? The fact of the matter is, Birsky, that the members of the Airy-o Club of America is starting in from the wrong end. What then fellers should ought to do is to get after the manufacturers to make up a line of semi-safe airy-olplanes, where if you fly in 'em, y'understand, you will stand a show year's subscription to any two of the monthly magazines. It's too bad that the North Pole was discovered before this here member of the Airy-o Club started in to offer prizes, Zapp. He might of loosened up to Admiral Peary for a cut glass olive dish or something."

"I guess the president of the Airy-o Club thought the same thing as you, Birsky," Zapp said, "because so soon as he got the letter from the member who offered the trophy he comes right back with an offer of $20,000 for first prize, $15,000 second prize, $10,000 for third prize, $7,500 for fourth prize, and so by degrees down to 'You done noble' for the ninth prize, 'Fine work' for the tenth prize and 'What detained you?' for the 11th, 12th and 13th prizes."

"Sure, I know," Birsky commented, "but twenty thousand dollars ain't to be sniffed at, neither."

"Listen, Birsky," Zapp said, "There is already entered in the Airy-o Club's contest thirteen concerns which manufactures airy-olplanes in the United States, and, so far as I heard it, they ain't in business for the benefit they will get from the systematic exercise of making up a weekly payroll exactly. So you can trust them fellers to see to it that enough young billonaires learns to fly to net the manufacturer anyhow ten per cent on his investment, and that is the secret of airy-olplane preparedness, Birsky. To the members of the Airy-o Club of America an airy-onaut is only an airy-onaut, but to a feller in the airy-olplane business an airy-onaut is something more than that. He is a customer, Birsky. So, therefore, Birsky, what the Airy-o Club of America must do is to train traveling salesmen for the manufacturers of airy-olplanes, and in case of war, Birsky, the air would be black with customers."

It Helps.

It is told of Doctor Johnson that, in the course of his last illness, when he could not open his letters, he asked Boswell to read them for him. Boswell opened a letter from some person in the north of England—a complimentary kind, and thinking it would fatigue Doctor Johnson to have it read aloud, merely observed that it was highly in his praise. Doctor Johnson at once desired it to be read to him, and said with great earnestness, "The applause of a single human being is of great consequence."

Chewing Gum Out of Place.

Marion was fond of chewing gum, and one morning before she was dressed her papa gave her a piece, which she chewed vigorously, but in some way part of it came in contact with her nightgown and stuck. That night, when her mamma put her to bed she undressed her in a dimly-lighted room, therefore the gum on the nightgown was not discovered. Marion was tucked into bed and her mamma went into the next room to await Mr. Sandman, and just when she thought the little girl was sleeping a tiny voice piped up, "Mamma, you have my nightgown wrong; the chewing gum belongs in front."

Protection During Thunderstorm.

In the event of a lightning stroke on an unprotected building there is considerable danger to life, but there is no doubt that an unprotected house is preferable to the open, under trees, or in unprotected outbuildings. As shown when a stroke falls on an unprotected house sheltering a family of the average number of persons, the minimum chances of escape are 45 in 100. In all probability, however, the chances of escape are much greater than this.

"I Would Lay for Him at the Drug Store."

Europe up to the present war using your head wasn't considered becoming neither. Golf and tennis is all right once in a while, Birsky, but if a feller is hitting a ball mit a club day in day out, y'understand, he might just as well be hitting a ball mit a hammer and become a carpenter. The consequences was that until airy-olplanes was invented, all such a young feller could do to get any excitement out of life was to climb mountains mit snow on 'em or go to Africa and kill once in a while a menagerie animal like a lion or a tiger. However, Birsky, after airy-olplanes was invented, flying became more fashionable than mountains climbing and killing menagerie animals, as it was found out to be just as dangerous, but with less traveling expenses and more convenient to a hospital. So therefore, Zapp, for every son of a millionaire in this country which is working hard to carry on the old man's business and give sun-for your life somewhere between a feller working in a powder mill and a feller in a submarine—in other words, not so safe that it wouldn't be considered a good trople of conversation with ladies, y'understand."

"For my part, Zapp, I am content to stay out of airy-olplanes till they get so common that talking about flying in 'em will be so much a trople of conversation as saying ain't it a rotten weather we are having," Birsky declared. "At the same time, Zapp, I think that time is coming fast, on account I see it in the papers where over in Europe they are learning a great deal from airy-olplanes, and that after the war is over, Zapp, they will make big improvements in 'em."

"The idea of Airy-o Club of America," Zapp said, "is that we shouldn't wait till the war is over but we should go right ahead experimenting on our own account mit airy-olplanes, and learn from one accident to another

The Secret Out.

The widower and the ex-widower chanced to meet in a downtown wet goods emporium.

"You seem to be remarkably happy since you married the second time," remarked the widower. "What's the explanation?"

"My wife is a firm believer in fairy stories. See?" rejoined the ex-widower.

And as the seeing was good, the other looked through the bottom of his glass and saw clearly.

Getting Old Too Fast?

Late in life the body shows signs of wear and often the kidneys weaken first. The back is lame, bent and aches, and the kidney action distressing. This makes people feel older than they are. Don't wait for drops, gravel, hardening of the arteries or Bright's disease. Use a mild kidney stimulant. Try Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands of elderly folks recommend them.

Louis T. Hellrich, 1002 Benton Ave., St. Charles, Mo., says: "My back ached so badly I hardly knew what to do. I kept getting worse daily and could hardly drag myself around. I had a poor appetite, didn't sleep well and was subject to headaches and dizzy spells. Finally, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and improved from the first. I had used four boxes, my kidneys became normal and the other troubles left me."

Simple Question to Answer.

The editor of the correspondence columns had a very busy day—a very busy day, indeed. So busy, in fact, that he had to enlist the services of the "sub" to read out the correspondence.

"What is the next query?" he asked, when he had gone half way through the pile of letters.

"Oh," replied the "sub," "a reader wants to know how to prevent the hairs in his mustache from falling out. What shall I put down, sir?"

"Well," answered the editor, with a sigh, "just put down: 'The best way to prevent hairs from falling out is to brush them lightly apart and keep them from quarreling.'"

TO PREVENT OLD AGE

COMING TOO SOON!

"Toxic poisons in the blood are thrown out by the kidneys. The kidneys act as filters for such poisons. If we wish to prevent old age coming too soon and increase our chances for a long life, we should drink plenty of pure water and take a little Anurio, N. Y."

When suffering from headache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain a little Anurio from your nearest druggist and you will quickly find the grand results. You will find it thirty-seven times more potent than lithia, and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.
